"Just because a few people happen to disagree with a few members of the city council is no reason why the council should be robbed of its just powers. Let the citizens go to the primaries if they are dissatisfied. You can't made me believe Salt Lake City is in such bad shape it has to go to the state in order to get fit men to conduct its affalrs."

Senator Bamberger peppered a few questions at Senator Williams.

"Do you remember when Colonel Holmes, Judge Powers, yourself and myself spent hours together framing the water commission bill and preparing it in shape to be enacted by the legislature?" he asked.

or I should have the honor of introducing it," said Schator Bamberger.

"All I can say is," said he on the senate floor, "that some men seem to be mightily afraid of their shadows. It is no credit to the city that it has to edmit that its own city council cannot give it relief and that it has to go to the state, but such is the deporable frot. There are thirty-three cities in the country, most of them about the size of Salt Lake, who have their water departments under commissions."

Senstors H. S. Larsen, C. P. Larsen, J. R. Murdock and Harden Bennion delivered philippics against the measure, while Senators Lawrence and Love rallied frequently to its defense, but all in vain. An attempt to amend it so as to provide for appointment of the water commission by the mayor was made, but was lost by a vote of nine to eight. Among the visitors present during the debate on the water bill were Fred J. Kiesel, O. A. Smoot, J. J. Thomas, John Sharp, E. H. Callister, Albert Reiser, A. J. Evans, Arthur Pratt, W. H. Dale, George C. Nye, I. C. Thoresen, Fisher S. Harris, Joseph Stanford and Judge H. S. Tanner.
